

Swedens most MTB-area

3. Bruksvallarna - Säterturen

Green. 24 km.

This is a trail that does not require as much technique, but it is quite tough biking from Bruksvallarna to "top" of the gravel road at Messmörtjärn. It is a very beautiful trip with the small height differences if you choose to start of from Messmörtjärn. Both options require that you are in quite good physical shape.

Start at the miner's statue in Bruksvallarna and follow the road sign pointing to Mittåkläppen.

The cross-country skiers premiere tracks goes along the road to Mittåkläppen and this is a very beautiful part which is one of the finest and best for those who want a little lactic acid but also many downhill.

It starts with 8 km uphill from Bruksvallarna.

Well up on the Stortrappåsens viewpoint you get amazing views. At Hågnvallen, turn of the gravel road to the right into a smaller road that offers an enjoyable ride downhill. Look out for oncoming vehicles, hikers, cattle and reindeers!

Down at Vitäggen (a boulder ridge) you take the road to the left and follow the path that is also marked as Säterturen. This path eventually becomes a lovely singletrack that goes out on Mittåkläpps road again and then you turn left and soon it's time for a obligatory stop for a waffle at Djupdalsvallen.

Way home from Djupdalsvallen starts with a gravel road leading back to Bruksvallarna. Soon, you get the reward of 8 km downhill down to Bruksvallarna. Watch out for oncoming traffic!

If you want to do an easier trip you can always take the car up to Djupdalsvallen (pay road from Bruksvallarna) and only bicycle the Säterturen, signposted from the car parking.

